Front End Engineer

During my work at the educational center, I was responsible for teaching students modern web development technologies and helping them improve their practical programming skills. I prepared lessons, explained technical concepts in an understandable way, and supported students during their learning process and project development.

In addition to teaching, I actively participated in developing real commercial projects. During this period, I successfully worked on 4–5 real-world projects, including a fitness club management platform, CRM systems, and business automation platforms. I was involved in frontend development, creating responsive user interfaces, integrating APIs, and improving user experience using modern technologies such as React, JavaScript, Redux Toolkit, HTML, and CSS.

Through these experiences, I strengthened my technical, communication, teamwork, and problem-solving skills while gaining practical experience in building scalable and user-friendly web applications.

Further information

About me	I am a Frontend Developer specializing in building modern, scalable, and high-performance web applications. My core expertise lies within the React ecosystem, specifically utilizing TypeScript and Next.js to create robust digital products. I prioritize clean code architecture, maintainability, and seamless user experiences (UX) in every project I undertake. Technical Expertise: Frontend: React, Redux Toolkit, Context API, Tailwind CSS, Vite. Backend & Tools: Node.js (Express), REST API Integration, Git, Docker. I go beyond just writing code; I strive to understand the business logic behind a product to offer the most optimal technical solutions. Through participation in hackathons and building real-world projects from the ground up, I have developed the ability to deliver high-quality results within tight deadlines.
